

Getings to all our faculty, staff, students, and community members on this National Day which is an important observance for us to recognize and honor all military personnel globally and acknowledge the sacrifices made by our nation's military families. Thank you for your service, sacrifice, and for keeping us safe.

In this edition of the Weekly Brief, I'd like to focus on recent updates provided to our

IT

Department; most importantly the migration underway to our global campus use of OneDrive. OneDrive is the days of saving your work to a file on your computer, device, or flash drive — and will all enter the safety, security, and convenience of OneDrive.

Our NM system has invested tens of millions of dollars into hardware and software that keeps us efficient while protecting us from malware, ransomware, and network and storage crashes. Our IT Department will begin archiving individual files on November 1st. Once archived, these files and folders will only be available via a request to IT. After 6 months, these folders and files will be deleted.

If you have not already made the transition to OneDrive, please do so at your earliest convenience. If you need assistance, contact IT directly from our website. OneDrive is now the supported and expected location for you
